

Dr Christophe Tretz has a PhD in Electrical Engineering from Columbia University in the city of New York.

He has worked as a circuit designer and engineering lead on several microprocessor and SoC chips at both IBM and AMD. Since 2014,

Dr Tretz has joined the Licensing and IP division of IBM where he is the lead patent engineer for all hardware, semiconductor and system patent deals.