

Hiroshi Noguchi

Director of AMG Product Marketing, ST Japan

Short Bio: Graduated from Stanford University with MSEE in 1999, worked for Lucent Technologies / Bell Labs as optical telecommunications system engineer. Moved to ST in 2007 as product marketing for Motion MEMS, responsible for customers in both gaming and automotive market, then gradually expanded the scope and responsibility, now responsible for product marketing activity within Japan for all of products belonging to AMG product group, which ranges from MEMS to analog to RF to motor control.